

DALLAS COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT

DALLAS COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT (DCCCD)

“A Leader in Support for Women and Minorities”

(As of February 2007)

Board of Trustees

1. The first community college district in Texas to institute single member trustee districts in 1977.

Jackie Caswell, DCCCD Board /Government Relations, August 1999

2. Fifty-seven percent (4 of 7) of DCCCD trustees are women.

3. Forty-three percent (3 of 7) of DCCCD trustees are ethnic minority.

4. The first community college district in Texas to create a majority African-American trustee district in its single member districts.

David Hay, DCCCD Legal Office, August 1999

5. The first community college district in Texas to create a majority Hispanic trustee district in its single member districts.

David Hay, DCCCD Legal Office, August 1999

Faculty/Staff

6. Fifty-eight percent of DCCCD administrators are women. Twenty-four percent are African-American. Eleven percent are Hispanic.

DCCCD Student & Staff Profile, Fall 2006, Monthly Affirmative Action Turnover Report, January 2007

7. Sixty-three percent of full-time DCCCD professional support staff is women.

Twenty-seven percent are African-American. Sixteen percent are Hispanic.

DCCCD Student & Staff Profile, Fall 2006, Monthly Affirmative Action Turnover Report, January 2007

8. The DCCCD is number one among North Texas public colleges and universities in number of African-American administrators.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

9. The DCCCD is number one among North Texas public colleges and universities in number of African-American faculty.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

10. The DCCCD is number one among North Texas public colleges and universities in number of Hispanic administrators.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

11. The DCCCD is number one among North Texas public colleges and universities in number of Hispanic faculty.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

12. The DCCCD is number two behind University of Texas at Arlington in the number of Asian administrators in North Texas public colleges and universities.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

13. The DCCCD is number two behind University of North Texas in the number of Asian faculty in North Texas public colleges and universities.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

14. The DCCCD is number one among Texas community colleges in the number of African-American administrators.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

15. The DCCCD is number two behind Houston Community College System in the number of African-American faculty in Texas community colleges.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

16. The DCCCD is number two behind Laredo Community College in the number of Hispanic administrators in Texas community colleges.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

17. The DCCCD is number six behind Alamo Community College District, El Paso Community College District, South Texas Community College, Texas Southmost College and Laredo Community College in the number of Hispanic faculty in Texas community colleges.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

Students

18. Fifty-nine percent of DCCCD credit student enrollment is female.

DCCCD Spring 2007 Facts Brief

19. Nine percent of DCCCD credit students are Asian.

DCCCD Spring 2007 Facts Brief

20. The DCCCD enrolls more African-American students than any other public college or university in Texas.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

21. The DCCCD is number one among North Texas public colleges and universities in Hispanic enrollment.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

22. The DCCCD is number one among Texas community colleges in Asian enrollment.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

23. The DCCCD enrolls more Native Americans than any other Texas community college in Texas.

2004 Statistical Report (Fall 2003 Data), Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

Note: Community college systems and districts data have been aggregated.

Source: 2004 Statistical Report, Fall 2003 Data, Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, <http://www.thecb.state.tx.us/Reports/HTM/0777.HTM>.

Prepared by DCCCD Institutional Research and Planning, Original September 1999, Updated February 2007

Mc:U:\DCCCDiversity.doc